

dawn pierce
mezzo | soprano

Mezzo-soprano Dawn Pierce is presently a professor of voice at Ithaca College in upstate New York. Her next operatic appearance will be with Nashville Opera as Bersi and Madelon in Andrea Chenier this fall. Recent performances include Dorabella in Così fan tutte with Pensacola Opera, Tisbe in La Cenerentola with Opera Carolina, Metella in La Vie Parisienne with Lake George Opera, and Franca in The Light in the Piazza with Piedmont Opera. While a fellow of the AJ Fletcher Opera Institute, Dawn was featured as Lucretia in Britten's Rape of Lucretia, Idamante in Idomeneo, and Elmire in Mechem's Tartuffe. In her free time, Dawn enjoys making jewelry, reading, dancing, pilates, and weight training. www.dawnpierce.com